ComVest has Acquired Southern Comfort Conversions, Inc.

Publish Date: 12/31/2007

West Palm Beach, Florida, December 2007 – The ComVest Group has acquired Southern Comfort Conversions, Inc. (“Southern Comfort”). The largest vehicle converter in the United States, the Company has both strategic alliances with automobile manufacturers, particularly General Motors, and a large dealer distribution network. Through its alliance with GM, the Company has recently secured exclusive contracts to produce Special Edition Hummers and customized Cadillac Escalades. ComVest anticipates the company is well positioned for significant growth.

Southern Comfort is a vertically integrated manufacturer and chassis converter for General Motors, Ford and Dodge. Southern Comfort is the largest automobile aftermarket up-fitter in the United States and provides specialty manufacturing services to the marine, motor home and golf industries. The Company provides a superior and unique paint job to standard vehicles off the assembly line, and creates custom lighting, proprietary ground effects and wheels, and an attractive interior finish. This customized look creates a very appealing and distinct product for dealers who are increasingly looking for differentiation as a competitive edge in the marketplace and allows dealers the opportunity to close higher margin sales.
